

Power, Automation and Control

This is one job where you should never feel powerless.

Whether you're expanding a water wastewater system or managing day-to-day operations, reliability is critical. At Schneider Electric, that's our calling card.

We've delivered dependable power, automation and control solutions for more than 100 years. And we're building on that track record with a complete range of products and services to meet your needs.

From innovations such as our line of Telemecanique® brand Modicon® controllers to our dedicated team of water and wastewater experts — including quote specialists, design engineers, project managers and more.

Higher productivity.
Seamless integration.
Greater efficiency. Find out how Schneider Electric can help you keep everything flowing smoothly.

To download free white papers, videos and specifications, visit www.squared-water.com.

SQUARE D

Telemecanique