

Machines. One of the few things in life we really can control.

Your teenage kids, your cat, your schedule, the weather. Given everything in life that we really don't have a lot of control over, it's nice to know that there is Telemecanique®. Because Telemecanique products give you simple, smart automated solutions like the brand new Altivar® 71 drive with the latest advances in motor control and the latest expertise in writing software to control the hardware.

The result is a smart device with intelligence built right into it, so it can improve flexibility, torque performance, and speed regulation for motors up to 700HP. Putting your life back into your control. At least until you get home. Visit us at www.us.telemecanique.com.
